Keeping Children Safe Online

As students are not currently in school and are likely to have more time accessing the internet both for education and recreational purposes, our children's safety online is something we should all be aware of. To follow are a few websites for parents which offer insight, advice and tips to keep children safe online.

www.saferinternet.org.uk UK Safer Internet Centre is a partnership of three leading charities with a mission to make the internet a better place for children and young people.

www.ceop.police.uk/safety-centre For advice on reporting online abuse or the way someone has been communicating online.

www.internetmatters.org From age-specific online safety checklists, to guides on how to set parental controls on a range of devices, you'll find a host of practical tips to help children get the most out of their digital world.

www.net-aware.org.uk Net Aware brings together the NSPCC's expertise in protecting children along with O2's technological knowledge to help you keep your kids safe online.

parentinfo.org/page/about-us Parent Info is a website for parents, covering all of the issues amplified by the internet. Its newsfeed function enables schools and family-focused organisations to host and share expert advice and information through their own websites.

www.thinkuknow.co.uk Thinkuknow is the education programme from the National Crime Agency's CEOP command. Thinkuknow aims to empower children and young people aged 5-17 to identify the risks they may face online and know where they can go for support.

www.nspcc.org.uk/keeping-children-safe/online-safety It can be hard to know how to talk to your child about online safety. From setting up parental controls to advice on sexting, online games and video apps, we can help you to understand the risks and keep your child safe.

www.safetynetkids.org.uk/.../staying-safe-online Designed for children to help them navigate the internet and social media safely and learn how to stay safe on the net.
